PC Power provides refurbished computers to indigent (needy) children, at-risk children, and disabled persons in northeastern Oklahoma. Which of those best describes the applicant(s)?

- Indigent (needy) children
- At-risk children
- Disabled person

Why is the person above applying for a computer? Please tell us below why you are applying for a PC Power computer. How will a computer help the applicant or the family? If the application is for a disabled person, how will the computer be used to help the person with the disability?

If the applicant is applying as a disabled person, please enclose the following documentation:

- Photocopy of SSI or other disability award letter from Social Security, Veteran's Administration, or other government agency, OR a letter from licensed professional with a recognized agency that serves disabled individuals.
- A letter from a member of the disabled person's support team documenting how the computer will be used to help the individual and what kind of support will be available to assist the individual in his or her efforts.

Are there other children in the home? Please add the name, age, sex, and grade in school for each child who lives in the home. Also tell us about any school subjects each child is doing very well in or having problems with, and about each child's interests and hobbies. This will help us select software that will help everyone in the house – not just the person receiving the computer.

Name	Sex	Age	Grade	Hobbies or interests	Strengths in school	Problems in school

PC Power is an all-volunteer organization. We have no paid employees. Most of our volunteers have full-time jobs and families, but give their time because they want to help us fill as many computer applications as possible. PC Power does not charge for the computers we provide and we do not require recipients to do volunteer work in return for their computer. We do hope, though that you might consider spending a few hours helping us so that we can help others. Even if you have no computer skills, there are many ways you or your family can help others receive a computer. If you'd like to know more, call us or visit our web site.

We base our decision on demonstrated financial need as well as evidence that the computer will be used in a way that will provide maximum educational, vocational, or therapeutic benefit to the recipient and his or her family members. Applications will normally be processed within two weeks of receipt, and notifications will be made by telephone or mail. We ask that recipients pick up their computers from our office, but we will deliver to recipients who are unable to drive or lift a computer and cannot make other arrangements.
